

CAL STATE STANISLAUS viewed from the northwest at 2,500 feet has yet to phase the vastness of the land within its grasp. Centered in the picture are the Classroom, Library and Science buildings with the "shining lagoon" and Drama-Music Building off to the near right. Particularly distinctive is the patterned Warrior Village in the lower left corner. The photograph was taken by Manuel Dias of Modesto, a commercial aerial photographer.

Stanislaus Enrolment Rebounds

California State College, Stanislaus displayed its first healthy growth signs since 1970 with an enrolment figure of 2,575, a 113 jump from last year's enrolment at this time.

The colleges peak year of 1970 found the figures topping out at 2,750 students with each succeeding year producing a steady decline to last year's low figure of 2,462.

The 1971 enrolment average was 2,700 and 1972 averaged 2,600.

The annual average of enrolment figures is based only on registration for day classes. Extension and night classes are counted separately.

Late registration is currently under way and will continue through Wednesday. College officials are optimistic that the final county will be above the final figure of 2,604 students who were counted on the "census date" in September, 1973.

The opening of the 1974-75 academic term marks the beginning of the college's 15th year of operation and its second year under the "4-1-4" calendar.

Warriors Are Accepted In Far Western Conference

By Steve Wampler

Making a short jump in baseball and basketball, and a larger leap in other CSCS sports, California State College, Stanislaus has been accepted as a member of the Far Western Conference.

The Warriors presently play full FWC schedules in baseball and basketball, but Cal State will have to expand its FWC role in the remainder of the Warriors' sports.

Cal State's acceptance into the FWC is tentative. Presently, the Warriors compete in six major sports—basketball, baseball, track, cross-country, golf and tennis—to be eligible to become an FWC member CSCS must add a seventh major sport.

Wrestling, as opposed to football, has most frequently been mentioned as the sport CSCS could add to become a member.

"Whether or not we can add wrestling to meet the FWC league requirements is dependent upon how our enrolment figures stack up this year," said Administration Dean Lou Leo.

"If we can't raise the necessary funds through student body funds, another way must be found for us to join the FWC."

The FWC, a six-team conference, is affiliated with the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA). UC Davis, Sacramento State, San Fran-

Meters

"The damn parking meters" at Stanislaus heads Sen. Mervyn Dymally's list for action should he be elected lieutenant governor in November.

Dymally, completing a busy half-day of campaigning for election in Stanislaus County, ended his campaigning with a campus luncheon with faculty members last week.

"It is a damn shame," Dymally continued about the meters, drawing the support of the instructors present. "I can't understand why you have parking meters on a state university campus."

Dymally maintained his first act as lieutenant governor would be to tear out the meters. Citing the long lines of cars parked off campus and the empty meter spaces on campus, Dymally continued his attack claiming the meters were not a function of higher education, "especially on a campus where you have this much room," he stated.

Warrior Standouts Join Professionals

Two 1973 Warrior baseball standouts, Dave Butler and Bob Starling, inked professional baseball contracts during the brief interlude from school.

Butler, whose name is etched into 12 Warrior school records, was signed by the National League champion New York Mets.

In his concluding year with the Warriors Butler fanned 87 opposing batters, compiled a fine 2.98 earned run average and racked up a brilliant 16-4 record.

Butler was assigned and pitched for the Mets' Visalia, Class 'A' team in the California League. He will be going to the Mets' spring training camp next year.

Starling, the Warriors' Most Valuable Player last season, was signed by Tri-Cities, an 'A' league team in the minors.

Starling topped the Warriors in batting last year, hitting a robust .354 to go along with his six circuit shots and 36 runs-batted-in. He swiped 26 bases and proved that he wasn't an all-hit-no-field player by committing only one error.

FWC Accepts Warriors

cisco State, Humboldt State, Chico State and Hayward State comprise the present league. A seventh member, Cal State Sonoma, dropped out during the summer, citing financial troubles.

Cal State will be eligible to compete in the FWC in July, 1975. The Warriors will play as a National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics District III "independent" school this season, besides competing as an "unofficial" FWC member until next year's switch.

Leo pointed out that by joining the FWC, Cal State will encounter less scheduling difficulty, face tougher competition and have a position in conference standings. Recruiting would be easier and CSCS could compete in post-season play-offs.

But, on the other hand, CSCS will be challenging schools 3-5 times larger, and the Warriors will no longer be allowed scholarship athletes.

Cal State sports this season will be on three levels—club, affiliate and intercollegiate.

Club teams will receive intramural funds, affiliate teams get partial funds from the athletic department, and intercollegiate sports are paid by the student body.

Two sports, women's basketball and soccer, are to be played on the affiliate level.
